

14. Ashwathama story

A great man went to Dronacharya's house with a view to a matter. Elder

Dronarut was also conversing for a long time and then Drona looked at the elder and prayed that he should "make food in my house today and leave". Vandaperiyava (who claims to be the Lord) was a mature devotee of more than ninety. He looked at Drona and said, "My feeders should come as mani born without clothes and prepare food. Drona told this news to his wife. She said, 'I will prepare food without clothes.' The food was cooked and the elder sat down to eat. His wife's hair was parted to one side. , she refused saying,

"I will eat this." Drona took it from the grass and fed it to the female horse tied at the door of his house.

"Appreciatively, on Drona's death, beg in his wife's clothes. Did he lose his senses even for the moment of Shiva?"

(used to be done).

[Birth of the Beast]