

7. The story of amputation

Kulothunga Pandian was testifying for the city of Madurai. Then a master of swordsmanship reached Madurai and taught swordsmanship to many people and was making a living from it. Then a man named Siddha learned swordsmanship very well. Unlike his teacher, he established a training center and started his own business. He encouraged those who were learning from the old man to come to him and thus increase his income. He tried many times to spoil his teacher's wife. One day he grabbed her hand and pulled her. She appealed to God

Somasundara. Lord Somasundara took the form of Siddha's teacher and went to Siddha. He said, 'I, the old man, and you, the young man, will fight and measure our strength.' The next day, the two had a fight on the outskirts of the city. As an old man, Somasundara fought with Siddha for twenty years. Siddha cut off his tongue, hand etc. and then his head and disappeared. "Esarmath Resonar Virudhukatti Award for both of them won Kan Amman (Madurai Kalambakam)

[blaming]