

9. Angirar story

Angirar is one of Nanmugan's people. All the attributes of Arunthavata and Thiruntiya are united in one. He received many people from his first home. Then he followed the best path of penance and performed auspicious penance and became one of the eminent ones. While he was doing penance in the forest, a demon king named Yakuratan saw him. "Who are you? What is your name? Where are you? Why are you doing penance like this?" He asked many questions. Angira did not answer any of these questions. He smiled and understood everything. The demon king thought that he was mocking him. He bent the bow in his hand and shot many arrows at Angira. All the arrows were destroyed without causing any trouble to him. This made the huge monster Vendan wear a sword. Viko came to cut him down and the ground erupted with 'Badir'. Hearing that voice, Arak Khan trembled with fear. He immediately fell in the explosion and disappeared. Seeing that, he felt sorry. He asked Nilama to let him out. Amazed at his grace, Nilamam also pushed the cordon out. The demon fell at the sage's feet and begged him to accept his mistake. The sage blessed him and sent him. He also got sanity. This sage set a great example that great people never deviate from their position.

[Witnesses in their own right]