Brief history :

He offered rice, tender mango and herbs to Sivan daily at the Sivan temple. All His wealth diminished. In spite of having no food to eat and living on water, the Saint did not stop His Thonndu. One day, whilst walking to the temple, He was so weak that He lost balance and dropped all the offerings on the ground. He Saint took a sickle and began to cut His throat. Sivan held His hand and bit the tender mango that had fallen onto the ground. Sivan appeared and blessed Him with liberation.
